Cloak Begins Rehearsals of 'Village Green'

Haines and Foote to Play Leading Roles In All-College Play

Ted Cloak has begun rehearsals with full cast for "Village Green" by Carl Anderson. This play will be presented in the chapel Thursday and Friday nights, March 11 and 12.

Ken Haines has the leading role of Judge Homer Peabody, the Democrat nominee for state senator in New Hampshire for the past sixteen years. Jeanne Foote plays opposite him as Margaret Peabody. Warren Buesing is Zeke Bentham, the Judge's ardent campaign manager.

Barbara Boyce and Bob Smith handle the love interest as Harriet Peabody and Jeremiah Bentham. Jeremiah is a young artist whose murals cause controversy in the small town of North Oxford. Gerry Grady will be the head of the Republican party. Henry Ames, his nephew, Herbert Carter, played by Bob Perschbacher, indicates a dual interest in politics and Harriet Peabody.

Phyllis Herold and Bob Alvis as Harmony Godkin and Reverend Horace Shurtleff lead the narrow-minded element of the village. The Reverend Arthur McKnight played by John Myers is the leader of the opposite flock. Dave Austin is Walter Godkins, the slightly hen-pecked husband of Harmony. Al Zupke is the village police force, George Martin.

Carole McCarthy has been cast as Norah, the maid, John Mullen and Margaret Rogers will be Dauren and Sally Post, newspaper reporters. Rosemary Halderson will be the twelve-year-old Abby Tate.

Mardi Bryant will be assistant to the director, and Zorabel Gasway, stage manager. Roger Sherman is the technical director while Ted Cloak is directing the show.

WAAC Officer to Speak at Chapel

First Officer W. Mary Stevenson of the WAACs will be here to tell the girls about opportunities in the WAACs. Recruiting officer in Milwaukee, First Officer Stevenson will answer the girls' questions in convocation Monday, and the convocation will be exclusively for the girls. She will arrive in Appleton Saturday and will be glad to speak to any girls who make an appointment.

First Officer Stevenson, whose rank is equal to that of a captain in the army, is a graduate of MacMurray college for women. She is a friend of Dean and Mrs. Anderson having been a classmate of Mrs. Anderson's.

Appleton Camera Club Demonstrates Methods Of Portrait Lighting

The next meeting of the Appleton Camera club to be held in the hobby workshop, fourth floor Main hall, is open to all college students interested.

There will be a demonstration on portrait lighting, using equipment that amateurs would normally use.

There will also be at the same place an exhibit of photographs taken by various members of Lawrence college who are connected with this Camera club.

Hoarding? No sir! While there's no shortage of championships let the best get as many as he wants—And don't let Louie tell you that I won because I didn't have to play his boys!

All girls are requested to come to convocation promptly. The election will be held before the program begins because after First Officer W. Mary Stevenson of the WAACs speaks, the topic will be opened for discussion.

Vespers Sunday

There will be Vespers next Sunday at 6:15 in the Chapel. Bob Perschbacher and Martha Hobart will lead the services.

A Cappella Choir to Present Concert in Chapel March 4

A program of greater variety than usual featuring compositions by Roy Harris and William Schumann, contemporary American composers, colorful folk songs, negro spirituals, excerpts from grand and light opera, and Earl Robinson's new "Battle Hymn" will be included among the selections chosen by Dean Waterman for the A Cappella choir concert March 4 at the chapel.

The traditional appearance of Palestrina, Bach and other classic composers has not been overlooked as is evidenced by the inclusion of a brilliant Bach fugue, "Ye Are Not Of The Flesh," and "The Presentation of Christ in the Temple" by Eccard.

An innovation this year is a group of songs for women only, featuring three pictures from the "Tower of Babel" by Rubenstein and two numbers by William Schumann; "Requiescat" and "Holiday Song" which were published within the past year.

The "Battle Hymn" by Robinson and Latouche is written in the same style as the famous "Ballad for Americans" which was given by the Lawrence choir last year. It is based on President Roosevelt's speech to the nation January 6, 1942. The performance to be given here March 4 will probably be the first one outside of New York of the "Battle Hymn."

Elect Student Body President In Early March

Committee Decides to Retain Activity Fees Of Men in Armed Forces

At the executive committee meeting held last Wednesday at the Union the members decided to hold the election of the student body president early in March.

There was some discussion as to whether it was advisable to hold the election this spring in view of the fact that the ERC might remove the president from office. However, the group arrived at the conclusion that the best thing to do would be to elect a president this spring as is customary.

The question of returning the activities fee to men who are called into the armed services was brought up. The motion was made and passed that "hereafter the activities fee would be retained in the budgets of the various committees, as originally appropriated by the executive committee with the understanding that the Ariel and Lawrentian will be sent to those who leave before the end of this semester." In view of the fact that the fellows will see most or all of the basketball season before they leave, and since a large portion of the social activities will be consummated by that time, the inducted men will have enjoyed practically all of the activities of the year. In addition the Lawrentian and Ariel will be sent to all.

Red Cross Asks For Student Blood

Students who plan to give blood to the Red Cross Blood bank should schedule a time for their donation today, Friday, February 19. This scheduling can be done through the Dean's office. The Blood bank will be in Appleton March 1, 2, and 3.

All donors must weigh over 110 pounds and be in good health. Those who are under 21 must have the written consent of his parent or guardian specifically permitting the student "to give one pint of blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank." Donors are not to eat during the four hours preceding their appointment.

The Vikes did it again. Coach Ray Hamann has directed the cagers through a brilliant season to the conference title to follow an equally brilliant championship grid season. The Vikes still have to meet Ripon at the Redmen stronghold, but the game has no bearing on the championship because all other conference teams have lost at least two games and have no mathematical chance of getting the title.

Hamann, a great athlete in his playing days, came to Lawrence last fall and everybody agreed he was stepping into a position that was definitely putting him on a spot. Ray took over the extremely popular Ade Dillon's spot. In the position of head coach of a group of basketball players that were rated the best all around bunch in the last few decades of Lawrence basketball history, he was definitely in the position of producing or else. He came through in great style and not only won the title but put himself in solid with the student body and the faculty because of the great guy he is.

Crossett Stars

For three years Vike cage teams have been built around captain Bill Crossett. Bill's deft ball handling off the pivot has been instrumental in many a Viking win. He was picked on the second all-conference teams in both basketball and football and during the grid season earned the title of the finest pass receiver in the conference and finished second in the league's scoring column. Bill has had some trouble hitting the

Girls to Honor Best Loved On Wednesday

Next Wednesday is the date that the L. W. A. social chairman has chosen for the annual best-loved banquet. In a recent election the four senior girls best-loved by all of the co-eds on the campus were chosen. At the banquet which is in honor of these girls, the best-loved will be revealed for the first time.

Miss Anne Jones of the French department will be the speaker at the formal banquet at which Carolyn O'Connor, L. W. A. social chairman, will preside as toastmistress.

Only 210 guests can be seated, and the tickets may be purchased by the girls living in the dormitories for 60 cents and by town girls for one dollar. The dinner will be served promptly at 6:30.

Students, Here Is an Opportunity To Give Your Blood to the War Effort

STUDENTS, here is a chance to do something for the war effort. Sign up today for the Red Cross Blood bank which is coming to Appleton March 1, 2 and 3.

The Red Cross has asked for 500 volunteer donors from the city of Appleton, and so far only about 250 have promised to give their blood. How about it? Help bring that number a lot closer to that 500 mark.

Lawrence college as a body has done very little to help the war effort, as far as the town is concerned. O! yes, the students have purchased a few war stamps, but outside of that there has been very little worthwhile done. Now, here is a chance for Lawrence to display its colors. Every able-bodied person on the campus should sign up for this cause. Show the town that Lawrence too, wants to do its part.

Spotlight of Campus News Shifts to Measles Blitz

BY MARGARET PUTH

Sharing honors with the exploits of Rommel and Eisenhower as this week's chief topics of comment and complaint is the measles epidemic that has hit Lawrence with the swiftness and ferocity of a whirlwind. Fireside chats on the war situation have given place to con-claves where speculation runs rife as to who will be the next victim. Everywhere on campus one comes upon huddles of students describing the symptoms and effects of measles. Even the silent sanctity of the library is not exempt from groups discussing this latest crisis in the history of Lawrence.

Measles make no concession to rank, standing, or preconceived plans. Counselors and freshmen alike are bearing the pangs of the disease, and the infirmary is overflowing with blossom-bedecked faces. Carole McCarthy, who deemed it unwise to leave her freshman charges to their own devices in the infirmary, has accompanied the group. When Larry Roberts left Brokaw for his new quarters, Betty Loye obligingly came down with the disease so she could look out for him. While only thin white walls separate the two victims, it is rumored that they have not met for several weeks. Perhaps it is all for the best that they do not expose the fragile sentiment of affection to the danger of seeing each other at their respective worsts.

The epidemic has lent an element of uncertainty to college life. Students now excuse themselves from studying for announced tests in the hope that measles may have struck them by that time.

Sage and Ormsbyites, waiting for Joe's to escort them to the movies, are never certain that Joe will show up. They can only cross their fingers and pray that the measles will not appear until the following day.

A severe strain has been imposed on even the most devoted of friendships. Erstwhile inseparables scrutinize each other suspiciously and scuttle off in opposite directions, each fearful that the other may be a "carrier." No one can afford to trust anyone else these days, and, unless the epidemic ends soon it will not be long before the campus resembles a ghost town deserted by its inhabitants.

Green Room Gossip

ACCORDING to a dictionary giving meanings of proper names, Alice means "noble and illustrious." Even though she's seldom called by her front name, these two words can be used to describe Alice Kemp. "Kempie" and "Sister Blanche" are more common handles this active member of Lawrence college theater answers to. (The derivation of the first nick-name is obvious, and the other is due to her middle name.)

Now a senior, Kempie is in her third year of participating in Lawrence college theater productions. Her roles have changed from being the mother of a dead child in Refugee, to the lead in Ladies in Retirement, to her last portrayal of a chorus girl in Heart of a City. During rehearsal of this last role, Miss K. almost performed a striptease due to some difficulty in costume changing.

Honors Kempie has won in the field of drama include membership in National Collegiate players, presidency of Healers, and vice-presidency of Sunset. She has many fans who follow her acting career with interest. In the last play she was completely convincing and kept her roll consistently. Always in character, she dropped her own personality to portray a person very different from herself.

Acting is not Kempie's only extra-curricular activity. Athletically minded, she's the DG's athletic chairman and has her intramural letters. Being a fresh-air fiend, she enjoys the breezes that blow through Sage cottage.

The Lawrence college theater has a new mascot now—a little black pigeon who visits fourth floor, M.H., and leaves his calling card. . . . Professor T. Cloak does such a good job of relaxing people in his oral interp class that he gets them snoring—and they come to saying, "Do it again, Ted." . . . The bulletin on fourth floor is covered with illustrations of theatrical architecture and articles from Variety this week, and in the future there'll be other exhibits of interest. . . . Mark March 1 as a "must-not-cut-chapel" day so you'll be sure to see the melodrama produced then. . . . Don't forget to vote for Judge Peabody. . . .

So They Say

AS a reader of the "Lawrentian" I have been interested in the controversy which has occupied the So They Say column for the past few weeks. I was especially interested in Miss Campbell's replies to both Miss Peterson's Vigilante column and Private Shurtleff's letter.

Mr. Shurtleff says: "The possibilities of individualism of yesterday are gone; and in its place has come the necessity of collectivistic action. The army is startling proof of that; and it, and the various forms of collectivistic government throughout the world, as well as their great effects, as yet unrealized by most Americans, on our own government and industry, are changing the face of the future."

This concept is no doubt one which many people do not hold, and I was looking forward to an intelligent rebuttal of the opinion, with evidences of proof that the "possibilities of individualism" are not gone. However Miss Campbell replied by saying, "all through history the formation of an army has always been 'startling proof' that there was a war going on, or that there would be one soon. It has also proved that when one nation unites and starts shooting, the other side naturally does the same." I knew nothing more than I had known before.

I was also very anxious to see a reply to Mr. Shurtleff's statement that "the intellectual viewpoints of which Miss Peterson speaks. . . (are) . . . in all probability far more accurate than is either the soldier's or the ivory-towered student's."

Miss Campbell's conclusion was that "accurate used in this sense is not found in the dictionary, but may be defined as anything Mr. Shurtleff believes true." I wanted to find out why the "intellectual viewpoints" were less accurate, but instead I find that Miss Campbell has been "drawing little diagrams for the position of the soldier, the ivory-towered student, and So They Say" and as a result of her diagramming has become "a resigned liberal." She must have come to some conclusions of great interest, or her attitude would not have so completely changed, yet she doesn't mention any of them.

Another statement of Mr. Shurtleff's which I thought deserved intelligent comment was that "because he (the soldier) is cut off from all forms of intellectual expression. . . because his job is a 24-hour one. . . it becomes the task of the college student. . . to be aware of the changes taking place in industry and in the world of tomorrow. Our way of life is changing radically, however much the soldier, removed from it, is unaware of the fact." All that Miss Campbell said was "how does Mr. Shurtleff know it, when he, as a soldier is unaware of the fact?" It was evident to me as I read Mr. Shurtleff's letter that he was not only aware but convinced, and Miss Campbell told me nothing.

Miss Peterson's column of February 5 set forth the views of the Archbishop of Canterbury contained in his document "Christianity and the Social Order" which were the result of "his study of our social and economic problems." Miss Campbell was stimulated to the extent of this comment, "more moderation and less gunplay." That was all.

I was very happy when I read the first articles on the subject of post-war reconstruction. I thought that at last we were going to get somewhere with an intellectual argument. Students were going to look at the problem objectively and present their views in an intelligent manner. I have been very much disappointed. Apparently only one faction of the controversy is able to do that. The opponent consistently is not able or refuses to do so. She has not yet set forth her own views, or even given us a hint that she has any. I, for one, would be interested in knowing what she really thinks. Her opinion should be valuable. It is too bad that she wishes only to tear down the arguments of someone else, especially in the manner she has employed, by satire, by witticisms, by the turning of a phrase to make its author appear ludicrous. It is too bad that we as adults, or nearly so, must resort to the pettiness of dealing with a serious issue in terms of the personalities involved.

Greek House Parties Hold Spotlight During Weekend

BY MARY ANN PRESCOTT and PAT BLIX

Remembering the fun we all had last year at the house parties, the Greeks are planning something similar this weekend. The Betas are having their traditional Gay Nineties party, which will include the Beta Gazette of important happenings during the year. Johnnie Nugent's band from Oshkosh will furnish the music, and the costumes and decorations will be typical of the late nineties.

The Phi Tau's are going to have their annual Apache Brawl with Orvil Meltz's orchestra supplying the music. The Top Hat Casino is taking over the Phi Delt house for the evening. There will be a bar, gambling games, food and dancing. Guests will be greeted by attendants in tuxes.

Brokaw Hall To Have Formal Dinner Dance

On Saturday evening, February 27, at 7:30 P. M., Brokaw Hall will have its big social event of the year, the Brokaw formal dinner dance, with particular invitation going to all who are living in or have lived in Brokaw during the current school year. A limited number of admissions will be sold to upper-classmen.

The plans for this dance are under the direction of a committee headed by Kenny Diem, Omar Dengo, and Dick Shook will see to decorations. Bill Hostetler will provide entertainment with a floor show, while Ward Swensen and Bob Morgan handle publicity. Chet Cook is in charge of the buffet supper, which is to be served in the chem dining room between 7:30 and 8.

The orchestra has not been announced as yet.

Service News

Last week Miss Tarr, librarian, had an S. O. S. from Mello Pifer, who graduated last year from college. He was wanting books he could use in teaching adults who lacked even a 4th grade education. Miss Martha Sorenson, supervisor of the grade schools in Appleton, was contacted and she brought over to the library quite a few books she had available for such teachers. Also, the public library sent over duplicates the children's room had discarded from their collection. There were about 30 books in the collection which were sent to Mello at Camp Shelby, Mississippi.

This is a part of Mello's letter: "Leave it to the Army to fix things for me. I spent three months in radio school at Athens, passed with good marks, returned to the 178th and now I'm teaching, or rather trying to teach, illiterates! Yes, that's right. I was a major in business administration so I was placed in the Signal corp to learn radio. I learn radio and then I'm sent to teach disciplinary cases, slow learners, lower IQ's and what have you. Boy, what a life! To cut a long story short, General Krueger is forming—temporarily at least—a new battalion to teach those not fortunate enough to learn their A B C's in civil life, and I was chosen to be one of the professors.

We haven't started as yet, and I don't know how I'm going to like it. Furthermore, with the exception of limited teaching experience in the Army, I have little background on which to rely. Therefore, I'm going to ask you if you could please send me some leaflets that would help me in the education of adults who lack a 4th grade education. I thank you for any help you can give."

Book Campaign

Let's fill the box in the library with books for the soldiers.

The Delt's are having a Roaring Twenties party; the Sig Ep house is going to be the Club SPE for a night with Maurie Bleick's band sending out tuneless melodies. There will also be a floor show, bar and food. These dances will perhaps be the last for many of the boys who are leaving, so a good time should be had by all.

Vikings Battle St. Norberts on Saturday Night

Lawrence Team Wins First Encounter; Play Last Home Cage Game

The Vikes take on St. Norbert in a return game this Saturday night at spacious Alexander gym in a game that may be tough or easy depending upon the frame of mind the Vikes are in when they take the floor. The Green Knights always play a tough driving brand of basketball and if they are on, they may upset the Vikes' apple cart.

The Blue and White opened the season at DePere by bouncing St. Norbert by a 58-43 score. Since then the Vikes have come a long way and have added the Midwest conference cage championship to the football title won last fall. St. Norbert meanwhile has been up and down and has lost as many as they have won. Big guns for the Catholic college is the front line of Wondrash, Druska and Van Sistine who have done practically all the scoring for them this year. In the first Vike game, they accounted for all but 8 points of the St. Norbert total and can be expected to do just as well up here.

Miller hit for 17 points in that first game and Fieweger and Buesing each put in 9 points. With Crossett playing the swell ball he did against Carleton and with Morris, Harvey, and Bahnson ball hawking, Buesing and Fieweger snagging the rebounds and Miller keeping on the beam, the Vikes should take this final home appearance.

hoop this year, but he doesn't have to make a point to be invaluable to the team.

Warren Buesing, another rugged customer has come through in great style this year to turn in his best season on the Vike hardcourt. Bues has been scoring consistently all year, and between him and Fieweger almost all the rebounds have gone to the Vikes. Bues was picked on the all conference football team at a guard position and also co-captained the team.

Fieweger Helps

Jim Fieweger's springy legs which helped him win five conference titles at the Midwest track meet last year has been a great help to the Vike five. Unable to break into the starting five, Jim's relief work has been tops and without him the Vikes could not have won.

If Morris and Harvey are not the two best guards in the league then they are two of the best. Both have been consistently good all season which is the mark of great ball players. Harvey, a fine defensive man, came through with his best performance of the season against Carleton when he held high scoring Captain Howard to a single basket. Morris, who is one of those fellows that plays so consistently good that fans don't fully appreciate him, played one of the most alert games seen on the Vike court in a long time against Cornell. Wes had the crowd on its feet throughout the game with his ball stealing tricks.

Reserves Potent

Sophomore Butch Bahnson, the third guard, was unable to break into the starting five but like Fieweger his relief work was of the best and when the war is over, Bahnson along with Miller will probably be the mainstays of the next Vike quint. Curry, Haslanger, Zupek and Knell have not seen much action and just for that reason alone ought to get medals for sticking it out all season and riding the bench on game nights. Zupek especially who was picked for the second straight year on the all conference football team and who led the league in scoring must have found it hard to ride the bench.

Dick Miller, big junior forward, was terrific all season. No team

HATS off to the championship Viking cagers for a nifty season against some top notch opposition. Hats off too, to Ray Hamann, a good coach and a swell guy.

If the Vikes would have lost out along the way, everybody would have been on Ray's tail because they all had the feeling that the Vike material was high class at the start of the season. Take nothing away from Ray, though, because he steered the team through some trying games during the season, and so we're on his bandwagon for a job well done. Ray's fine job clinches the idea that the Lawrence coaching staff is the best in this league and quite a few other leagues too. Bernie brought home the football bacon, and Art Denny steered his track team to the state title and a third in the Midwest meet. Bernie's golfers also annexed the midwest golf crown and the state golf crown and his wrestling team came away from the conference meet with a third. Ade Dillon's swimmers took the conference swimming title and Paul Martin, now of Uncle Sam's forces steered his tennis team to a second in the conference meet and a state title. This has been the greatest athletic year in Lawrence history.

In the first battle of its kind on the campus, the Betas will meet the Phil Deltas in a wrestling match at the gym Friday at 3:30. The team will be composed entirely of men in the gym classes which are wrestling most of the time now. The matches are all challenge matches, and if any of the other fraternities want to wrestle another fraternity, get in touch with either Heselton or Denney and they will arrange to get the officials and everything else. Maybe we can arrange a round robin of matches and get a fraternity wrestling champ before the big call comes.

Big Bill Crossett who these past few years has been worrying about how his football helmet and his basketball sweat shirt has raised havoc with his hair informed me he has a "doggy" cure for falling hair. See Bill for particulars.

Milwaukee State Defeats Lawrence Swimming Team

The Vike swimming team took an unexpected drubbing at the hands of Milwaukee State Teachers college last Saturday. The splashes, who were considered stronger than last year's team which took the Midwest championship, were somewhat surprised by the final 44 to 24 score of the meet, but Coaches Patten and Turley say the defeat was just what the doctor ordered to put the feet of the swimmers back on the ground, and they expect a much better showing against Illinois Tech tomorrow in the Vike pool at 2 o'clock.

The Illinois team beat the Vikes by four points earlier in the season in their own pool, and tomorrow's encounter promises to be just as close. Coach Patten has blood in his eyes and of the meet he says, "We're going to give 'em hell!"

stopped Dick all year, Cornell being the closest holding him to 13 points which is just 6 points under his game average. Dick hit against all opponents, big time or small time. His 32 point spurge against a strong DePauw university five highlighted his scoring and broke the field house scoring record for a single game.

Tops Total

Last year Dick scored 231 points in 17 games and finished up with 60 points more than any other Vike cager had scored before in a single season. Dick has already scored 251 points in only 13 games this year and with two more games remaining he probably will go far ahead of his 17 game total last year. No doubt about it, he is a great athlete not only on the hard court but on the grid as well. Dick was picked all-conference tackle on the football team and was recognized as the highest scoring tackle in the nation on 19 after-touchdown conversion and one touchdown.

All in all it's been a great season. The Vikes have lost only to Great Lakes, Camp Grant and Carroll and among their 10 victims has been Ripon by a 70-44 count. St. Norbert tomorrow night and the scalp of Ripon a week hence would wind up the greatest Vike season in modern times.

Coe Is Probable Host of Track Meet

Like the major league baseball situation, wherein the personnel may be changed, the Midwest conference track and field championships scheduled for Cedar Rapids in May nevertheless are expected to be held with Coe college the host. No one knows at present how many stars will be missing but the opinion of most of the conference athletic directors is that as long as we have enough boys we are going to attempt to provide inter-collegiate activity for them.

The loss of stars may even up the field and provide a still closer meet than usual. Coe and Grinnell have dominated the recent meets and probably will show well again this year with Cornell, Knox, and Lawrence perhaps challenging them the most, although as said before, due to changes in rosters it may be a wide open meet.

Cornell Dominates Midwest Wrestling

Cornell college again dominates Midwest conference wrestling as well as much of the national picture. The Purple has held the conference title ever since league championships have been staged, and there is no one to doubt its claim this year. No conference meets have as yet been held and perhaps there may not be any, but in the meantime Cornell is active in throwing many a university team around.

Hand Defeat To Carleton

Miller Leads Scoring Again as Lawrence Trounces Carls 44-27

Viking cagers turned in another impressive performance last Saturday in taking the sting out of a potent Carleton five to the tune of 44-27. Phil Harvey turned in a very nifty job of stopping high scoring Carleton captain Bill Howard, who could hit for just one goal. Vike captain Bill Crossett played one of those swell ball handling games off the pivot and connected for five points as well. Wes Morris played his usual smooth, cool floor game and was second high for the Vikes with four baskets. Dick Miller, as he has done in every game this year, led the Vikes in scoring with 15 points. The subs all played well and all in all it was a very gratifying Vike win.

The Vikes took a 7-0 lead at the start of the game and by halftime had increased it to 21-9. Playing smooth ball all the way, the big five in blue and white never let their lead get less than 10 points. Jack Verby, tall Carleton forward, left the game on fouls in the first half and with him seemed to go the Carleton scoring threat. Verby and Ken Johnson scored six points apiece to pace the Carls.

Girls: Here's a Safe Way to Let The Boys Down

In their youth, many Lawrentians were ardent fans of the Singing Lady, whose favorite tale concerned one Rapunzel, a long-haired maiden who would let her golden tresses hang out the window so her current hero could climb down to the ground to safety, while an irate papa pounded on the door. Modern adaptation of this romantic old story has Rapunzel's hero descending via parachute.

All of which is a buildup for you girlies to dig around in your copious drawer space to find that last pair of pre-war stockings which you were saving, runs and all, as a souvenir of palmier days. Then buzz down the hall and put them in the cans provided and start to dream about the handsome specimen soon to float gently earthward supported by your late-lamented hose. My only worry is, what if the darn things gets a run.

THE Betas tightened their hold on first place last week when they won over a scrapping Delt team. A first half 17-7 lead was too much for the Delt team, the Betas finally winning 22-19. Ramsey Forbush, ace Beta forward, paced his team with 8 points and an outstanding floor game. Lucht and Pengelly led the Delt bucketmakers with 6 and 5 points, respectively.

The much-improved Sig Ep team swamped the Phi Taus 52-26. "Wild Bill" Mikulich was again the outstanding performer of the day, dropping in a mere 26 points. This 26 point total broke the previous season high of 22 set by Bill last week. The Phi Delt team had an easy time beating the Independents who definitely missed their star guard, Bob Estabrook.

This week's schedule will feature a battle for second place between Mikulich, Rollins and Co., and Bill Crossett's powerful Phi Delt team, who have yet to play the ball they are capable of. This game may prove to be one of the best of the season, with the Sig Eps chances for second place and the Phi Delt chances for a championship verging on the outcome. The Delt will be all out for revenge when they face the Phi Taus who upset them earlier in the season. The Betas play the non-fraternity boys in the three o'clock encounter.

Now for a couple of courageous and "non-prejudiced" predictions: The Phi Delt-Sig Ep game is a toss up, with my money on Haligas to stop Mikulich, the Phi by three, in what should be a humdinger.

The Delt team are mad over last week's tough one and the upset they suffered at the hands of the Phi Taus earlier in the season, the Delt by 15 points—The Betas have too much power for the Independents and should win handily.

Enrollment Drops 12% at Semester

The Registrar's office has announced that there are at present 251 men and 292 women enrolled in the college; this makes a total of 543 students. 67 students did not return for the second semester, a drop of 12 percent.

In the conservatory there are 65 women and 11 men; 6 con students did not return.

In addition there are 8 graduate students who are candidates for the M. A. degree in education.

Hold Cooperative Tests for Students

The cooperative test for sophomores will be given this year Friday afternoon, March 19, from 2 to 4, and Saturday March 20 from 8:30 to 11:30 and from 1 to 3:30.

All sophomores, including conservatory students, will be required to attend and will, of course, be excused from their classes at that time. The tests will be held in the campus gym.

Life in the WAAC

Some questions and answers of interest to every patriotic college woman

The drilling sounds so strenuous—?

Nonsense! The most beautiful women in America today are the girls in khaki! Some calisthenics and drilling are vital to general good health, discipline and tuned-up reflexes. After a few weeks at Fort Des Moines, Daytona Beach or the new Fort Oglethorpe training center you'll feel better than ever in your life.

Maybe I wouldn't like the work?

People are happiest doing what they do well. Every effort is made to place you where your service will count most toward final Victory. You may have some latent talent that will fill a particular need for work interesting and new to women—such as repairing the famous secret bombsight, rigging parachutes, operating the fascinating new electronic devices—or driving an Army jeep over foreign terrain.

Then I have a chance to learn something new?

Yes, indeed. And the list of WAAC duties grows constantly. The training and experience you get in the WAAC may equip you for many stimulating new careers opening up for women.

What are my chances of promotion?

Excellent. The Corps is expanding rapidly and needs new officers, both commissioned and noncommissioned. Those who join now have the best chances. All new officers now come up through the ranks. If qualified, you may obtain a commission in 12 weeks after beginning basic training.

What is the age range and other requirements?

Very simple. You may join if you are a U. S. citizen, aged 21 to 44, inclusive, at least 5 feet tall and not over 6 feet, in good health—regardless of race, color or creed. But the Army needs you now—don't delay. Total War won't wait!

Linguists needed. If you speak and write Spanish, Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, Russian, French, German or Italian, see your local Army recruiting office now! You are needed for interpreting, cryptography, communications.

First of all, is the WAAC really needed?

Emphatically yes! Already the President has authorized the Corps to expand from 25,000 to 150,000. The Air Forces and Signal Corps have asked for thousands of WAAC members to help with vital duties. Both Ground Forces and Services of Supply are asking for thousands more. Members of the WAAC may be assigned to duty with the Army anywhere—some are already in Africa and England.

Can the WAAC really help win the war?

The whole idea of the WAAC is to replace trained soldiers needed at the front. If American women pitch in now to help our Army (as women in Britain, Russia and China do), we can hasten Victory—and peace.

What can my college education contribute?

College training is important equipment for many WAAC duties too long to list. Cryptography, drafting, meteorology, laboratory work, Link trainer and glider instructing, for example. If you are a senior you may enroll at once and be placed on inactive duty until the school year ends. See your WAAC faculty adviser for more details.

But can I live comfortably on WAAC pay?

There are few civilian jobs in which you could earn clear income, as WAAC enrolled members do, of $50 to $133 a month—with all equipment from your toothbrush to clothing, food, quarters, medical and dental care provided. WAAC officers earn from $150 to $333.33 a month.
